Grain Crop of the Great Northwest This Year Is Im-

FARMER PROSPEROUS

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 1.—(Spl.)-85,000,000 bushels of oats and 15,000,-000 bushels of barley is the extent of the grain crop predicted for Washing-Idaho and Oregon this season by millers and bankers who have made a close study of the situation in the three states.

The hap crop, including alfalfa, will he the largest in the history of the northwest, and in addition the grownorthwest, and in addition the grow-ers in the Yakima valley in Washing- ket street residence. While practictor will make 15,000 bales of hops. The crop is high grade and free from

The wheat acreage in Washington is 2,122,000 acres this year, as against directly at the fleeing form. 1,728,748 in 1908, when 23,500,000 bush-40,000,000 bushels, as against 38,-000,000 bushels in 1907.

Oregon has 852,000 acres in wheat It is expected the crop will be not use than 16,500,000 bushels. If condi-tions had been favorable throughout the state the yield would be 21,000,000 bushels.

Idaho will cut between 9,500,000 and 10,000,000 bushels this year, as compared with 9,000,000 bushels in 1908. Has acreage is 474,000, as against 414, 412 a year ago. Farmers are holding their oats for $25 a ton, which means from $29 to $29.50 at tidewater. The barley crop is large, with plenty of coarse grain for feeding later in the season. Many of the wheat ranchers believe they made a mistake in holding their grain when it was at the dollar mark, as prices have tumbled to from 83 to Millers in the Inland Empire to not expect a raise until next spring the basis for this being that the farmers in the Canadian Northwest are cutting a bumper crop and the fact that Rus-dan armanubian countries are ready to ship to Europe.

New York, Sept. 1.—The market sold off today after the announcement of the discovery of the north pole, and it is probable that the event had quite as much to do with the course of prices as anything else. It was a day not entirely barren of news of market interest, but to this the market, apparently, paid little attention.

Its action at any rate was in natural and logical sequence to the rally fol-lowing last week's reaction and the subsequent decrease of activity and alow sagging of prices. That it was less active than yesterday, that its movements were sluggish, that prices sagged seem-ingly from inertia as much as anything else was entirely in accordance with pre-cedents established by most markets after violent declines. There were exceptions to the slow sagging movement, but the most notable of these were in stocks that are not at all active as mediums for speculation, such as Brooklyn Union Gas, United Rallway investment, United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry, and preferred stocks of some of the smaller railroads. In some of these, particularly Brook-lyn Union Gas, the advances were con-siderable, but the general trend was slowly downward, and the trading was devoid of any speculation at all keen or exciting. The bulk of the business originated on the floor of the stock exchange, and as usual, in a professional market was inspired by consideration of the so-called technical position than by any development outside the beard room Professional drives on prices were made once or twice during the session but they were of no influence in dis-lodging stocks and it seemed that the liquidations so extensive last week and the week before had quite run its course. With this completed the market seemed slowly feeling its way to new ground or ket importance before proceeding ac-tively in either direction. A circumstance that may have deterred purchases of some securities was the poor prospect for cotton displayed by the Journal of Commerce's report as of August 24. The report showed a deterioration of seven per cent. In condition to a condition of 66 per cent., which is much lower than at any corresponding period in a decade. At the corresponding period last year the condition was waiting for developments of prime mar-

Then the crop amounted to 13.587,000 bales and with one exception was the biggest in the past ten years. It has at no time been expected that the year's crop would equal that of last year and at the time of the government's report for July the prevailing estimate indicated a crop of not more than 11,500,000 bales. If the Journal of Commerce estimate s to be accepted this figure must be considerably reduced and on that account the government report, which will be made public tomorrow, is awaited with a great deal of interest. In this connection it is to be remembered, however that both the cotton and the stock mar-kets have been prepared by a number of state reports for a largely decreased yield. Among a series of favorable statements for July that of the Rock Island was conspicuous showing for all lines an increase of $1,276,000 in gross and $854,000 in net.
